STATEMENT OF FACTS

31. Plaintiffs are all individuals who came to New York City in late August, 2004 to peacefully and lawfully exercise their rights to free speech and assembly during the period of the Republican National Convention ("RNC"), and to enjoy their time in New York City as out-of-town visitors during their stay.

32. Plaintiffs were all arrested during one of the many mass-arrests conducted by the NYPD during the period of the RNC, arrests made by the NYPD without probable cause or individualized suspicion of criminal activity.

33. On August 29, 2004, plaintiffs PHILLIPS, PORTO, and MILLER had participated in the large, peaceful, United for Peace and Justice march in Manhattan. After relaxing for a time in Bryant Park, they decided to walk to Times Square. They wanted to observe any further political expression that may have been occurring there and, if the spirit moved them, to further voice their political opinions.

34. When they arrived at Broadway between 45th and 46th Streets the block was crowded. Many people and police officers were all around. As they made their way through the crowd along the sidewalk, they were asked by the police to step back underneath a scaffold that covered a significant portion of the sidewalk near 46th Street and Broadway. They complied with this request, and shortly thereafter the crowd underneath the scaffold was surrounded by the police and penned in underneath the scaffold.

35. Plaintiff MILES SWANSON had spent the day of August 29th as a legal observer, attempting to facilitate and bear witness to the various demonstrators' exercise of their lawful rights to free speech and assembly. He went to Times Square to further serve as a legal observer, and was wearing a bright fluorescent green baseball cap at the time that identified him as a legal observer affiliated with the National Lawyers Guild.

36. While MILES SWANSON was near 46th Street and Broadway some of the police officers in the area were using batons and horses to shove and herd the crowd. MILES SWANSON and others were ordered further back onto the sidewalk by police officers.

37. Shortly thereafter the crowd that was underneath the scaffold was surrounded by the police and penned in underneath the scaffold, including MILES SWANSON.

38. When plaintiffs and the rest of the crowd were penned in underneath the scaffolding the police brought forth orange netting that they used to surround the crowd.

39. The crowd was not free to leave this location. On information and belief, other than a small number of individuals, most of whom were employed in the media, who were selected and released from the penned-in area by the police officers, the rest of the people who were surrounded by the orange netting were handcuffed behind their backs and placed into vehicles by NYPD officers for transport to Pier 57.

40. The arrest decision was made by Defendant O'NEILL, without justification or probable cause, and without individualized knowledge that any of the arrestees had engaged in any illegal conduct. This decision to engage in the mass arrests at 46th Street and Broadway was communicated to lower-ranking NYPD officers, who effected those orders.

41. Defendant BONIFATI made the decision as to how and when to seal the arrestees under the scaffolding so that they could all be arrested pursuant to Defendant O'NEILL's directive. Defendant BONIFATI did so without justification or probable cause, and without individualized knowledge that any of the arrestees had engaged in any illegal conduct. This decision as to how and when to seal the arrestees under the scaffolding so that they could all be arrested pursuant to Defendant O'NEILL's directive was communicated to lower-ranking NYPD officers, who effected those orders.

42. Defendants COOKE and RICHARD ROES were among the NYPD Commanding Officers who also exercised command responsibility at 46th Street and Broadway, and participated both directly and in their capacity as supervisors in making the wrongful mass arrests, including by assisting with the handcuffing process and the assignment of arrestees to their assigned arresting officers. They were remiss in their supervisory duties, including failing to ensure that assigned arresting officers under their command had individualized knowledge that any of their assigned arrestees had engaged in any illegal conduct, and failing to ensure that their subordinate officers did not fill out false paperwork and swear out false affidavits attesting to facts of which they were not truly aware.

43. Plaintiffs were handcuffed behind their backs and placed into vehicles by NYPD officers for transport to Pier 57.

44. Defendant DIV~~I~~RGILIO was assigned as the arresting officer for plaintiff JEFFREY PHILLIPS and, on information and belief, for RAFAEL PORTO.

45. Defendant ANGEVINE was assigned as the arresting officer for plaintiff JOEL MILLER.

46. Defendant STASI, on information and belief, was assigned as the arresting officer for plaintiff MILES SWANSON.

47. Plaintiffs were taken to Pier 57, a former bus depot that was reconfigured for use as a detention facility during the period of the RNC by defendant CITY OF NEW YORK.

Deleted: U

Deleted: S

Deleted: 29. Upon information and belief, an order or orders was/were given by higher-ranking NYPD JOHN DOE defendants present at the scene of plaintiffs' arrests for the lower-ranking NYPD officers to engage in the mass arrests at that location.

48 Pier 57 is owned by and/or under the control of defendant HRPT.

49. Prior to the RNC the CITY OF NEW YORK contracted with HRPT for the use of Pier 57 as a detention facility.

50. On information and belief, all of the arrestees from 46th and Broadway, and the vast majority of the almost two thousand people arrested during the course of the period of the RNC, were confined for some period of time at Pier 57.

51. The conditions at Pier 57 were atrocious. The detainees were kept in chain-link cages topped with barbed wire that lacked adequate seating. The floor of Pier 57 was caked with a dark grimy substance that spread to the clothing and bodies of those detained therein. There were numerous signs warning of hazardous materials that were posted at multiple locations throughout the pier. On information and belief, the detainees were exposed during their time at Pier 57 to toxic, irritating and/or hazardous chemicals which the City and HRPT knew, or should have known, were present there. During these periods of confinement the detainees were unlawfully denied adequate food, water, sanitation, medical attention and/or access to counsel.

52. Plaintiffs were processed at Pier 57, and their arresting officers were instructed by employees of THE CITY OF NEW YORK under the supervision of HAMMERMAN, DOEPFNER, SWEET, ALBANO MARIN-JORDAN, and NYPD LEGAL BUREAU SUPERVISOR(S) AT PIER 57 to create false accounts of plaintiffs' arrests. On information and belief, these Legal Bureau personnel also participated in the making of unconstitutional and illegal arrests at numerous mass arrest locations during the RNC.

53. Defendant HAMMERMAN was appointed by Defendant Kelly as Deputy Commissioner of Legal Matters without having knowledge at all of the rights of demonstrators or of individuals' rights under the First Amendment more generally, and no knowledge of the elements of the charges that are most commonly lodged against arrestees in demonstration-related circumstances. In addition to delegating his authority to Defendant DOEPFNER during the RNC period, which resulted in the construction of the NYPD Legal Bureau's unconstitutional and illegal policies, practices, customs, and usages during the RNC period, Defendant HAMMERMAN also personally set a tone of lawlessness and contempt for individual rights within the NYPD during the RNC, including by personally attempting to frame an individual named Dennis Kyne for crimes which he did not commit.

54. The detainees at Pier 57, including plaintiffs, were further subjected to unreasonable delay in being processed and moved through the system. The City insisted on fingerprinting all RNC detainees in contravention of New York State Law, the vast number of whom were arrested and charged based only on the alleged commission of violations that did not rise to the level of crimes under New York State law, and who therefore under New York State law did not have to be fingerprinted to be processed and released with a date to return for court. Despite the City's insistence on fingerprinting all RNC arrestees, the detention facility at Pier 57 not equipped with any fingerprinting machines. On information and belief, once the City eventually fingerprinted these RNC arrestees their fingerprints and other personal information were sent to State and Federal authorities and not destroyed, thus violating the privacy rights and interests of the arrestees and creating the potential for unlawful surveillance activity by law enforcement authorities, for the unlawful chilling of their exercise of free speech and association, and for disruptions to their lives. Additionally, unnecessary and dilatory additional processing steps were taken at Pier 57 that delayed the detainees' movement through the system, including overly exacting property itemization procedures and the screening of each arrestee's paperwork by the NYPD's Legal Division to determine and finalize what suggested charges should be forwarded to the District Attorney's office for each arrestee, and to create the arrest narratives on the arresting officers' paperwork. Further unreasonable and unnecessary delays were also suffered by RNC detainees upon their subsequent transfer to and detention at the Central Booking Facility at 100 Centre Street. All arrestees during the RNC were thereby held in custody of the CITY OF NEW YORK for periods of time longer than were reasonable or necessary.

55. After their detention at Pier 57, further callous and unreasonable treatment and conditions of confinement were endured by plaintiffs during their transfer to and confinement at the Central Booking Facility at 100 Centre Street.

56. On information and belief, during the periods of their confinement the vast majority of RNC arrestees were subjected to unreasonably tight and painful wrist restraints/handcuffs.

57. During their time in custody plaintiffs were subjected to unreasonably tight and painful wrist restraints/handcuffs.

58. Defendant DIVIRGILIO told plaintiff JEFFREY PHIILLIPS, in sum and substance, that he knew that the charges against the arrestees were "bullshit" and that the arrestees had not committed any violations of the law. Defendant DIVIRGILIO also referred to Pier 57 as "Guantanamo." When plaintiff JEFFREY PHIILLIPS was arrested at 46th Street and Broadway he asked a higher-ranking NYPD officer present there why he was being arrested. In response the officer indicated in the direction of a young man wearing a bright green Legal Observer's hat, and snidely told JEFFREY PHILLIPS, in sum and substance, that he should ask his legal advisor.

59. Plaintiff JEFFREY PHILLIPS was released after approximately 21 hours in custody. He was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct which have been dismissed in their entirety of by way of an adjournment in contemplation of dismissal.

60. Plaintiff RAFAEL PORTO was released after approximately 23 hours in custody. On information and belief, he was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct. All charges against RAFAEL PORTO have been dismissed in their entirety of by way of an adjournment in contemplation of dismissal.

61. Plaintiff JOEL MILLER was released after approximately 22 hours in custody. He was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct which have been dismissed in their entirety of by way of an adjournment in contemplation of dismissal.

62. Plaintiff MILES SWANSON was released after approximately 25 hours in custody. On information and belief, he was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct. All charges against MILES SWANSON have been dismissed in their entirety.

63. Prior to, during, and after the RNC officials of the CITY OF NEW YORK evinced through their statements and actions an attitude of contempt toward those who demonstrated during the RNC, and toward those thought to be assisting or otherwise related to them, including legal observers, anarchists, certain segments of the press, and the National Lawyers Guild. Officials of the CITY OF NEW YORK attempted to create a climate of fear relative to the activities of demonstrators.

64. Defendant COHEN prior to the RNC caused the NYPD to be engaged in widespread surveillance of individuals and groups expected to be demonstrating during the RNC period, and fostered and created a climate of hostility toward demonstrators, improperly conflating them with civil disobedience and/or violence and/or violent anarchism and/or terrorism. The intelligence obtained through Defendant COHEN's RNC intelligence program formed the backdrop and basis for the unconstitutional and illegal treatment of RNC arrestees, including the decision to engage in wrongful mass arrests, to fingerprint all arrestees, to not issue summonses to any RNC arrestees, and to hold RNC arrestees in NYPD custody for an improperly long period of time.

65. This tone of hostility to demonstrators, and the resultant policies, customs, practices and usages to punish and discourage dissent were further set by statements made by other high level City Officials, including the Mayor and Police Commissioner, in the period leading up to and during the RNC. These statements portrayed those who chose to engage in political protest in the most negative light. This criminalization and/or demonization of people engaged in political protest was clearly communicated to NYPD police officers and supervisors through the public statements by NYPD officials, including Police Commissioner Kelly, who made remarks about the threat posed to New York City by "hard-core" and "dangerous" protestors. This sentiment was reiterated, summarized and ratified in the public statements of defendant BLOOMBERG in which he identified the plaintiffs and those similarly situated as "terrorists" and "guilty" criminals.

66. Defendants BLOOMBERG and KELLY further displayed their animosity to demonstrators, and their contempt for the rights of demonstrators, during the RNC period by discriminatorily and under false pretenses denying the issuance of a permit for use of Central Park's Great Lawn by demonstrators for a rally at the end of the largest planned demonstration of the RNC period on August 29, 2004.

67. The NYPD engaged in unreasonable mass arrests at multiple locations throughout New York City during the period of the RNC, where everyone or almost everyone present at a particular location was taken into police custody if they were demonstrating or perceived by the NYPD to have been demonstrating. Lawful demonstrators, observers, or passers-by were swept up in these mass arrests and taken to Pier 57. These arrests were conducted unreasonably, without respect for the rights of free expression and association, and without probable cause or individualized suspicion of wrongdoing.

68. The NYPD enforced a facially unconstitutional, overbroad, and vague parading ordinance against those demonstrating or perceived to have been demonstrating, and applied the parading ordinance, as well as other laws including the statute prohibiting disorderly conduct, in a discriminatory and unequal fashion.

69. The CITY OF NEW YORK engaged in false arrests and used the conditions and length of pre-arrainment detention for a punitive purpose, and in order to interfere with, retaliate for, and chill the exercise of free speech and association. The CITY OF NEW YORK engaged in these false arrests and dilatory processing of the arrestees in part to prevent the arrestees from exercising their rights to free speech and expression.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

31. Plaintiffs are all individuals who came to New York City in late August, 2004 to peacefully and lawfully exercise their rights to free speech and assembly during the period of the Republican National Convention (“RNC”), and to enjoy their time in New York City as out-of-town visitors during their stay.

32. Plaintiffs were all arrested during one of the many mass-arrests conducted by the NYPD during the period of the RNC, arrests made by the NYPD without probable cause or individualized suspicion of criminal activity.

33. On August 29, 2004, plaintiffs PHILLIPS, PORTO, and MILLER had participated in the large, peaceful, United for Peace and Justice march in Manhattan. After relaxing for a time in Bryant Park, they decided to walk to Times Square. They wanted to observe any further political expression that may have been occurring there and, if the spirit moved them, to further voice their political opinions.

34. When they arrived at Broadway between 45th and 46th Streets the block was crowded. Many people and police officers were all around. As they made their way through the crowd along the sidewalk, they were asked by the police to step back underneath a scaffold that covered a significant portion of the sidewalk near 46th Street and Broadway. They complied with this request, and shortly thereafter the crowd underneath the scaffold was surrounded by the police and penned in underneath the scaffold.

35. Plaintiff MILES SWANSON had spent the day of August 29th as a legal observer, attempting to facilitate and bear witness to the various demonstrators' exercise of their lawful rights to free speech and assembly. He went to Times Square to further serve as a legal observer, and was wearing a bright fluorescent green baseball cap at the time that identified him as a legal observer affiliated with the National Lawyers Guild.

36. While MILES SWANSON was near 46th Street and Broadway some of the police officers in the area were using batons and horses to shove and herd the crowd. MILES SWANSON and others were ordered further back onto the sidewalk by police officers.

37. Shortly thereafter the crowd that was underneath the scaffold was surrounded by the police and penned in underneath the scaffold, including MILES SWANSON.

38. When plaintiffs and the rest of the crowd were penned in underneath the scaffolding the police brought forth orange netting that they used to surround the crowd.

39. The crowd was not free to leave this location. On information and belief, other than a small number of individuals, most of whom were employed in the media, who were selected and released from the penned-in area by the police officers, the rest of the people who were surrounded by the orange netting were handcuffed behind their backs and placed into vehicles by NYPD officers for transport to Pier 57.

40. The arrest decision was made by Defendant O'NEILL, without justification or probable cause, and without individualized knowledge that any of the arrestees had engaged in any illegal conduct. This decision to engage in the mass arrests at 46th Street and Broadway was communicated to lower-ranking NYPD officers, who effected those orders.

41. Defendant BONIFATI made the decision as to how and when to seal the arrestees under the scaffolding so that they could all be arrested pursuant to Defendant O'NEILL's directive. Defendant BONIFATI did so without justification or probable cause, and without individualized knowledge that any of the arrestees had engaged in any illegal conduct. This decision as to how and when to seal the arrestees under the scaffolding so that they could all be arrested pursuant to Defendant O'NEILL's directive was communicated to lower-ranking NYPD officers, who effected those orders.

42. Defendants COOKE and RICHARD ROES were among the NYPD Commanding Officers who also exercised command responsibility at 46th Street and Broadway, and participated both directly and in their capacity as supervisors in making the wrongful mass arrests, including by assisting with the handcuffing process and the assignment of arrestees to their assigned arresting officers. They were remiss in their supervisory duties, including failing to ensure that assigned arresting officers under their command had individualized knowledge that any of their assigned arrestees had engaged in any illegal conduct, and failing to ensure that their subordinate officers did not fill out false paperwork and swear out false affidavits attesting to facts of which they were not truly aware.

43. Plaintiffs were handcuffed behind their backs and placed into vehicles by NYPD officers for transport to Pier 57.

44. Defendant DIVIRGILIO was assigned as the arresting officer for plaintiff JEFFREY PHILLIPS and, on information and belief, for RAFAEL PORTO.

45. Defendant ANGEVINE was assigned as the arresting officer for plaintiff JOEL MILLER.

46. Defendant STASI, on information and belief, was assigned as the arresting officer for plaintiff MILES SWANSON.

47. Plaintiffs were taken to Pier 57, a former bus depot that was reconfigured for use as a detention facility during the period of the RNC by defendant CITY OF NEW YORK.

48 Pier 57 is owned by and/or under the control of defendant HRPT.

49. Prior to the RNC the CITY OF NEW YORK contracted with HRPT for the use of Pier 57 as a detention facility.

50. On information and belief, all of the arrestees from 46th and Broadway, and the vast majority of the almost two thousand people arrested during the course of the period of the RNC, were confined for some period of time at Pier 57.

51. The conditions at Pier 57 were atrocious. The detainees were kept in chain-link cages topped with barbed wire that lacked adequate seating. The floor of Pier 57 was caked with a dark grimy substance that spread to the clothing and bodies of those detained therein. There were numerous signs warning of hazardous materials that were posted at multiple locations throughout the pier. On information and belief, the detainees were exposed during their time at Pier 57 to toxic, irritating and/or hazardous chemicals which the City and HRPT knew, or should have known, were present there. During these periods of confinement the detainees were unlawfully denied adequate food, water, sanitation, medical attention and/or access to counsel.

52. Plaintiffs were processed at Pier 57, and their arresting officers were instructed by employees of THE CITY OF NEW YORK under the supervision of HAMMERMAN, DOEPFNER, SWEET, ALBANO MARIN-JORDAN, and NYPD LEGAL BUREAU SUPERVISOR(S) AT PIER 57 to create false accounts of plaintiffs' arrests. On information and belief, these Legal Bureau personnel also participated in the making of unconstitutional and illegal arrests at numerous mass arrest locations during the RNC.

53. Defendant HAMMERMAN was appointed by Defendant Kelly as Deputy Commissioner of Legal Matters without having knowledge at all of the rights of demonstrators or of individuals' rights under the First Amendment more generally, and no knowledge of the elements of the charges that are most commonly lodged against arrestees in demonstration-related circumstances. In addition to delegating his authority to Defendant DOEPFNER during the RNC period, which resulted in the construction of the NYPD Legal Bureau's unconstitutional and illegal policies, practices, customs, and usages during the RNC period, Defendant HAMMERMAN also personally set a tone of lawlessness and contempt for individual rights within the NYPD during the RNC, including by personally attempting to frame an individual named Dennis Kyne for crimes which he did not commit.

54. The detainees at Pier 57, including plaintiffs, were further subjected to unreasonable delay in being processed and moved through the system. The City insisted on fingerprinting all RNC detainees in contravention of New York State Law, the vast number of whom were arrested and charged based only on the alleged commission of violations that did not rise to the level of crimes under New York State law, and who therefore under New York State law did not have to be fingerprinted to be processed and released with a date to return for court. Despite the City's insistence on fingerprinting all RNC arrestees, the detention facility at Pier 57 not equipped with any fingerprinting machines. On information and belief, once the City eventually fingerprinted these RNC arrestees their fingerprints and other personal information were sent to State and Federal authorities and not destroyed, thus violating the privacy rights and interests of the arrestees and creating the potential for unlawful surveillance activity by law enforcement authorities, for the unlawful chilling of their exercise of free speech and association, and for disruptions to their lives. Additionally, unnecessary and dilatory additional processing steps were taken at Pier 57 that delayed the detainees' movement through the system, including overly exacting property itemization procedures and the screening of each arrestee's paperwork by the NYPD's Legal Division to determine and finalize what suggested charges should be forwarded to the District Attorney's office for each arrestee, and to create the arrest narratives on the arresting officers' paperwork. Further unreasonable and unnecessary delays were also suffered by RNC detainees upon their subsequent transfer to and detention at the Central Booking Facility at 100 Centre Street. All arrestees during the RNC were thereby held in custody of the CITY OF NEW YORK for periods of time longer than were reasonable or necessary.

55. After their detention at Pier 57, further callous and unreasonable treatment and conditions of confinement were endured by plaintiffs during their transfer to and confinement at the Central Booking Facility at 100 Centre Street.

56. On information and belief, during the periods of their confinement the vast majority of RNC arrestees were subjected to unreasonably tight and painful wrist restraints/handcuffs.

57. During their time in custody plaintiffs were subjected to unreasonably tight and painful wrist restraints/handcuffs.

58. Defendant DIVIRGILIO told plaintiff JEFFREY PHIILLIPS, in sum and substance, that he knew that the charges against the arrestees were “bullshit” and that the arrestees had not committed any violations of the law. Defendant DIVIRGILIO also referred to Pier 57 as “Guantanamo.” When plaintiff JEFFREY PHILLIPS was arrested at 46th Street and Broadway he asked a higher-ranking NYPD officer present there why he was being arrested. In response the officer indicated in the direction of a young man wearing a bright green Legal Observer’s hat, and snidely told JEFFREY PHILLIPS, in sum and substance, that he should ask his legal advisor.

59. Plaintiff JEFFREY PHILLIPS was released after approximately 21 hours in custody. He was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct which have been dismissed in their entirety of by way of an adjournment in contemplation of dismissal.

60. Plaintiff RAFAEL PORTO was released after approximately 23 hours in custody. On information and belief, he was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct. All charges against RAFAEL PORTO have been dismissed in their entirety of by way of an adjournment in contemplation of dismissal.

61. Plaintiff JOEL MILLER was released after approximately 22 hours in custody.

He was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct which have been dismissed in their entirety of by way of an adjournment in contemplation of dismissal.

62. Plaintiff MILES SWANSON was released after approximately 25 hours in custody. On information and belief, he was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct. All charges against MILES SWANSON have been dismissed in their entirety.

63. Prior to, during, and after the RNC officials of the CITY OF NEW YORK evinced through their statements and actions an attitude of contempt toward those who demonstrated during the RNC, and toward those thought to be assisting or otherwise related to them, including legal observers, anarchists, certain segments of the press, and the National Lawyers Guild. Officials of the CITY OF NEW YORK attempted to create a climate of fear relative to the activities of demonstrators.

64. Defendant COHEN prior to the RNC caused the NYPD to be engaged in widespread surveillance of individuals and groups expected to be demonstrating during the RNC period, and fostered and created a climate of hostility toward demonstrators, improperly conflating them with civil disobedience and/or violence and/or violent anarchism and/or terrorism. The intelligence obtained through Defendant COHEN's RNC intelligence program formed the backdrop and basis for the unconstitutional and illegal treatment of RNC arrestees, including the decision to engage in wrongful mass arrests, to fingerprint all arrestees, to not issue summonses to any RNC arrestees, and to hold RNC arrestees in NYPD custody for an improperly long period of time.

65. This tone of hostility to demonstrators, and the resultant policies, customs, practices and usages to punish and discourage dissent were further set by statements made by other high level City Officials, including the Mayor and Police Commissioner, in the period leading up to and during the RNC. These statements portrayed those who chose to engage in political protest in the most negative light. This criminalization and/or demonization of people engaged in political protest was clearly communicated to NYPD police officers and supervisors through the public statements by NYPD officials, including Police Commissioner Kelly, who made remarks about the threat posed to New York City by "hard-core" and "dangerous" protestors. This sentiment was reiterated, summarized and ratified in the public statements of defendant BLOOMBERG in which he identified the plaintiffs and those similarly situated as "terrorists" and "guilty" criminals.

66. Defendants BLOOMBERG and KELLY further displayed their animosity to demonstrators, and their contempt for the rights of demonstrators, during the RNC period by discriminatorily and under false pretenses denying the issuance of a permit for use of Central Park's Great Lawn by demonstrators for a rally at the end of the largest planned demonstration of the RNC period on August 29, 2004.

67. The NYPD engaged in unreasonable mass arrests at multiple locations throughout New York City during the period of the RNC, where everyone or almost everyone present at a particular location was taken into police custody if they were demonstrating or perceived by the NYPD to have been demonstrating. Lawful demonstrators, observers, or passers-by were swept up in these mass arrests and taken to Pier 57. These arrests were conducted unreasonably, without respect for the rights of free expression and association, and without probable cause or individualized suspicion of wrongdoing.

68. The NYPD enforced a facially unconstitutional, overbroad, and vague parading ordinance against those demonstrating or perceived to have been demonstrating, and applied the parading ordinance, as well as other laws including the statute prohibiting disorderly conduct, in a discriminatory and unequal fashion.

69. The CITY OF NEW YORK engaged in false arrests and used the conditions and length of pre-arrainment detention for a punitive purpose, and in order to interfere with, retaliate for, and chill the exercise of free speech and association. The CITY OF NEW YORK engaged in these false arrests and dilatory processing of the arrestees in part to prevent the arrestees from exercising their rights to free speech and expression.
